Champion of King Tax Bill Starts a Rumpus When He Criticizes Assemblyman for Voting Against the Measure

Graves and Fulwider, Members of the Assembly, Exchange Heated Words and Talk About Fighting It Out

SACRAMENTO, March 5.—The King tax bill was passed in the Assembly this afternoon by a vote of 52 to 26.

SACRAMENTO, March 5.—The King taxation measure finally passed the legislature today, when the Assembly on reconsideration, passed it by a vote of 55 to 25. This was one more vote than the two-thirds required by the constitution for the passage of taxation measures.

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. SACRAMENTO, March 5.—The bill for the measure, which passed the legislature today, was a final conclusion in the assembly, was climaxed by a near floor fight today on the assembly floor, but before the bill could be voted on again take up consideration of the measure.

Dr. J. W. Callon of Sacramento, representing the American Legion, today for the measure, was the storm center, and was threatened with ejection from the assembly by W. J. Leffler, sergeant-at-arms. The participants in the row were Assemblymen J. B. Fulwider of Santa Rosa, E. O. Loucks of San Pedro, Sidney P. Graves of Los Angeles, and the innocent cause of the trouble was Assemblyman R. E. McPherson of Fresno.

DR. CALLON DENIES RUMOR. The rumpus began when Dr. Callon took McPherson to task for voting against the King bill, declaring that defeat of this measure would deprive the members of the legion of the only chance they have this year for any kind of government aid.

McPherson, after listening to a minute, walked away and Assemblyman Loucks, also an opponent of the King bill, walked up to Dr. Callon, asserting he had no right to try and influence a member.

The discussion quickly became a shouting match, and Loucks, who has much right to lobby for the King bill as the various members of the bill-dollars lobby had to work against it.

The personalities indulged in attracted the attention of Assemblyman Fulwider, a supporter of the tax measure, and Assemblyman Graves, another opponent.

Graves, who is a sergeant-at-arms and demanded that Dr. Callon be expelled from the Assembly chamber.

Dr. Callon resented the attempts of Leffler to remove him from the floor, and the result was that the entire party walked out into the corridor, where Fulwider challenged Graves to combat. Bystanders rushed between the two men.

After quiet had been established, Dr. Callon was permitted to resume his seat within the railing.

When the session was called to order, Assemblyman Graves introduced a resolution ejecting all lobbyists from the floor of the chamber. The resolution was referred to committee after several members had aired their views.

Another outburst occurred when McPherson, who also had voted against the bill, announced he would vote for it. He was the only member to do this in accordance with the wishes of his constituents and "under protest."

HECK WILL VOTE FOR THE BILL. SACRAMENTO, March 5.—The Assembly was thrown into an uproar of applause when Assemblyman Heck today announced that he would vote for the King bill. He voted against it when it was defeated by one vote this week.

Heck said he had been chosen by his constituents that his opposition to the bill was unjustified.

The King measure, which would increase taxes upon public service corporations by approximately one-third, was taken up by the Assembly today under reconsideration of its action defeating the bill by a vote of 53 yeas to 47 nays. Fifty-four yeas to two-thirds majority was required for its passage.

By RAYMOND CLAPPER, United Press Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—President Harding settled down for work at his desk in the executive office adjoining the White House shortly after 9 a. m. today.

One big job facing him was that of passing out jobs—some fifty thousand of which will ultimately be filled from a list of applicants sent in this morning. But only a few of the most important received attention today.

Harding expected to consult cabinet members further today regarding the various emergency appointments to the various departments. Theodore Roosevelt has already been named assistant secretary of the navy. Former Congressman Thomas W. Miller of Delaware is designated as a possible assistant secretary of war. He saw service in France and was active in organizing the American Legion.

THREE ASSISTANTS TO SECRETARIES NEEDED. Henry P. Fletcher, former ambassador to Mexico, has been chosen under-secretary of state, but there are three assistant secretarieships to be filled.

Two vacancies on the Interstate Commerce Commission, the entire seven places on the Shipping Board, five on the Federal Reserve Board, three on the United States Tariff Commission, two on the Federal Trade Commission, four on the Federal Farm Loan Board and several on the Railway Labor Board are to be filled in the near future.

J. E. Beech, defeated for re-election to Congress from Wisconsin last November, will be offered a place on the Interstate Commerce Commission. Howard Mannington of California, long interested in public utility questions, may be offered the other post vacant.

CABINET OFFICERS TO FILL MINOR PLACES. Judson C. Welliver, journalist and student of economic problems, who was associated with Harding during the campaign, is expected to be offered a position on either the Federal Trade Commission or the Tariff Board.

Former Senator George Chamberlain, Oregon, a Democrat, appears certain to receive a minority appointment to the Shipping Board.

Harding will leave the filling of thousands of postmasterships and minor positions still to cabinet members.

Meanwhile the White House today with its gates open for the first time since war was declared, presented an old-time picture. Hand-drawn rooms over the lawn and through the corridors.

Harding wanted to do as little handshaking as possible today. He was swum in a bath of his administration under way, attend the funeral services of Champ Clark and play golf.

MARCH 12 TEMPORARILY MODIFIED CHIEF. Secretary Weeks announced General Peyton C. March, temporarily would be continued as chief of staff, and William H. Williams as assistant secretary of the navy.

Ball was assistant secretary of agriculture under Secretary Meredith. He was held up by automobile bandits across the boundary to American coast close at far south on San Francisco, according to a statement by local officials today. It is believed narcotics compose part of the cargoes carried.

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. LONDON, March 5.—The anti-Bolshevik revolution in Russia is reported to be gaining in strength, according to advices received by the Daily Express from various sources today.

Representatives in the Baltic states were said to be deeply distressed at the trend of events in Russia.

Burns, acting head of the Russian delegation at Riga, the chief doorway through which Russia communicates with the outside world, has asked for protection by the Lithuanian government and the red flag has been removed from the Russian legation.

Following radiogram was received from Krasnodar, the fortress defending Petrograd on the sea side: "Power has passed into the hands of a temporary revolutionary committee. The committee is composed of representatives of the Baltic states, to whom both the fleet and the army are loyal. A call has been issued to all the 'whites' in Russia to join the 'revolutionary movement.'"

According to advices from Riga, the greater revolution is pursuing a line similar to those which resulted in the overthrow of the czar. The fighting, however, which has broken out at some places, has been much fiercer than that which accompanied the overthrow of the Romanovs.

SOVIET LEADER CALLS UP RESERVES. Rebel workers at Petrograd, assisted by soldiers and sailors and butchers, have captured all of the right bank of the Neva, as well as all of the important industrial plants. Among the ships that went over to the insurgents was the cruiser Petrovskoy.

The rebels at Petrograd are now defeated at one juncture. At the critical moment a number of red troops went over to them, however. The counter-revolutionary movement is spreading to other towns. The workers, soldiers and sailors have struck a blow for political freedom and for free industrial trade unionism. The fighting broke out on a big scale when Lenin tried to suppress an outbreak with naval cadets.

Mellon Figures How to Collect 10 Billion Debt

(By International News Service) WASHINGTON, March 5.—Europe's $10,000,000,000 debt to the United States was at the top of the calendar today as one of the most urgent problems, pressing for adjustment, under the new administration. This vital question, today confronted the new secretary of the treasury, Andrew W. Mellon, when he took over the affairs of office. Secretary Mellon's first day was devoted partly to a study of the debt matter.

Secretary Mellon, in a series of conferences with David F. Houston, the acting secretary, and with other officials, was made conversant with the status of the foreign loans and went at some length into the various phases of negotiations previously begun by foreign governments relative to the funding of the outstanding obligations.

President Harding's inaugural utterance, indicating that suggestions for cancellation of the debt will meet with rejection, apparently started the new secretary of the treasury upon a clearly defined policy.

Burglar's Wife, Friend Indicted For Perjury

Mrs. Leo Brennan and Percy Morton Arrested and Heavy Bail Asked.

Arrested in San Francisco following indictment by the Alameda County Grand Jury on the charge of perjury in the Leon Brennan burglary case, Mrs. Leo (Helen) Brennan and Percy Morton were indicted in the county jail today and held under $3000 bail.

Mrs. Brennan was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Al Smith of Oakland at her home, at 1245 16th street, and Morton was taken at 1133 Golden Gate avenue. The penalty for conviction for perjury is 1 to 14 years in San Quentin.

District Attorney Ezra Decoto charges that Mrs. Brennan perjured herself when she swore that Brennan was at home at 6 o'clock on the evening of the robbery, when he was in the county jail.

When she said he returned home at 12 midnight. He says that Morton committed perjury when he tried to deny the robbery.

All the Japanese servants of the Carson home testified at the trial that Brennan was committing the robbery at the time in question, and Sige Niwa, the cook, testified to the same before the grand jury.

The star witness, who was serving a term of one to fifteen years in San Quentin for the same crime, was brought here to be tried on the perjury charge, but the standing indictment will have the effect of keeping him in prison for the entire fifteen years.

ALVARADO ROBBER SUSPECT INDICTED. The name of the Alvarado bank robber, testified at the trial that Brennan was committing the robbery at the time in question, and Sige Niwa, the cook, testified to the same before the grand jury.

The star witness, who was serving a term of one to fifteen years in San Quentin for the same crime, was brought here to be tried on the perjury charge, but the standing indictment will have the effect of keeping him in prison for the entire fifteen years.

Every person who perjured himself in the Carson case in which the district attorney's office is prosecuting the latter and his wife, is charged with a felony, declared Decoto today.

People are getting so they have no regard for the law. They will go on the witness stand and swear to anything. I am safe in saying that nine out of ten defenses put up by accused criminals are perjured oaths.

Proper respect for their sworn oaths and for the processes of courts will be instilled into witnesses if it takes a few penitentiary sentences to do it.

Most of these experts are said to hold the opinion that of the two evils the penalties are preferable to the Paris terms. Senator Albert J. Cummins of Iowa is "slated" to succeed himself as president pro tem of the senate. The re-election or re-appointment of other Republicans as officers of the Republican organization or of the senate itself, who were chosen when the Republicans had a controlling vote of the senate two years ago, is expected.

These include David S. Barry, sergeant at arms, and George A. Sanderson, secretary of the senate.

There is some talk of contests over the committee chairmanships of the sub-committees. It is believed Senator Lodge and his associates who include Senators Penrose and Knox of Pennsylvania, will put through the program agreed upon by them.

POLICE AND FIRE CHARTER CHANGE PLANS 'DITCHED'

Council Adopt Them, Then by Reconsideration Move Shelves Them

Three propositions, charter amendments affecting the police and fire department administrations, and the assessment methods for the city of Oakland, were ordered placed on the April 19 ballot by the City Council at an extra session today, after which the three proposed amendments were killed by motions for reconsideration.

As the law requires that the resolutions for election matter be adopted forty days before the election, proposed amendments will never get a voter's rubber stamp. Some of them are the results of long labor, policemen and firemen, and num-ous conferences by officials. All them are the result of hard labor the city attorney, who worked and night to whip the amendments into form on short notice.

The only amendment to come before the voters April 19, will be one proposing larger scope for playground commission. The council placed this on the ballot a week ago.

BERKELEY, March 5. -- Berkeley's "Garret" theater, the latest venture into the artistic, will born next Friday evening when members of the Theater of Arts of the college city present the third performance of the season. The old Defenders' club at 21 Shattuck avenue, built on the site of the first theater to be established in Berkeley, will form the setting for the new playhouse. The h will be remodeled to form an unusual and artistic background for dramatic and musical productions. Berkeley's first theater was built on the site of the new playhouse, but it was destroyed by fire. It was followed by the present building.

"All of a Sudden Peggy," a new farce comedy, has been chosen for the first production in the new playhouse.

Members of the cast include Mrs. Ruth Bashford, Miss Mary Williams, Mrs. Mary Bonestell, Miss Mary Shaffer, Carl Biedenbach, Jan

Flisk, Charles Brock, F. A. McAllister and F. S. Smith. Elaborate preparations are being made for the production. The stage is being fitted with new curtains and scenery and special attention is being given to the costumes.

The regular bi-monthly membership meeting of the Arts theater will be held Monday night of the present month.

Mining Man Faces False Check Charge

Kelsey, mining man with interest in the Nevada mines, was arrested at the Palace hotel today by Detective Sergeant David Murphy and Frank Lord on a telegraphic request from the Sacramento police. Oakley to Put in Fire Protection OAKLEY, March 5.—Oakley is to have an up-to-date fire equipment, an American-La France hand-drawn truck, with 30-gallon tanks and feet of hose, having been purchased. Later it will be made over into auto truck.

BRITISH PAPERS SEE DOOM OF NATION LEAGUE

London Estimate That Losses in That City Yearly Are 3,000,000 Pounds.

LONDON, March 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—President Harding's address to the League of Nations, which was the subject of congratulations and good will in the English press this morning.

The Daily Mail says President Harding is a man who may be trusted to make good use of his great power. The Morning Post expresses the belief that with the inauguration of Harding the outlook for the present and future relations between the United States and Great Britain were never more pleasant or more hopeful.

The address of Harding is regarded by the Post as virtually pronouncing the doom of the League of Nations. It declares there can be no effective league without the United States as a member.

The Daily News declares it is able to say nothing but good of President Harding's refusal to enter alliances and his aspirations for peace and disarmament. It regrets, however, that he leaves his attitude towards the league of nations indeterminate.

PARIS COMMENT.
PARIS, March 5.—Underlying editorial comment upon the inauguration of a new President of the United States in this morning's newspapers was a feeling of uneasiness as to the effect of Harding's policy on the European situation.

The Journal declared it had "convinced itself that the President's broad political view of Mr. Harding is to be seen in the fact that he has not assumed the place at the international council table."

WILSON PRAISED.
MANCHESTER, (England), March 5.—The Manchester "Guardian" comments editorially on the changes in the Presidency of the United States, saying: "Mr. Wilson leaves the White House today a failure in the world's eyes, but a success in the eyes of his countrymen. He has done a noble thing at a time when most of those about him were bent on success in doing somewhat base things."

Richmond Ready To Go Ahead on Work on Harbor

Bonds to Be Sold As Soon As Federal Appropriation
Is Available.

RICHMOND, March 5.—Following the signing of the rivers and harbors appropriation bill, which is reported to carry $250,000.

Richmond harbor work, the city council has decided to immediately sell a portion of the $400,000 harbor bond issue voted last summer. In order that the work of dredging the harbor and constructing the new pier may begin at once, when the harbor bond issue was voted, it was with the understanding that the money was not to be used until the federal appropriation was made available. It is expected that the government will appropriate a total of $225,000 for the completion of the work, the appropriations to be made from year to year as the harbor work progresses. When completed, the harbor will take the largest vessels entering the port of San Francisco. News that the rivers and harbors appropriation bill has been signed leads to the expectation here that work will be begun at once.

Unidentified Man Is Killed Under Truck

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—An unidentified man believed to have been Neil Edward McGonigal was killed instantly today at the intersection of Third and Market streets, when he was run down by a heavy automobile truck used in grading work. According to Edward Diamond, driver of the truck, the victim suddenly appeared directly in front of the machine before it could be stopped. One of the wheels passed over his head.

A bank-book issued by the Anglo-California Trust company and showing a balance of $50 in a savings account was found in the man's clothing. It bears the name of Neil E. McGonigal, 3130 Market street. Authorities so far have been unable to locate any person of this name in San Francisco. The victim was apparently about 45 years old and simply dressed.

Overtaken Hull Reported by Mayo

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—The motorship Admiral Mayo, en route from South Pacific waters to Puget Sound, put into San Francisco today as a result of damage sustained when it encountered a 120 mile gale on February 12. The storm lasted until February 13. The Mayo lost her sails and was leaking when she reached here. The vessel brought warning of what may have been one of the worst disasters of the sea which remain the years unexplained. At 4:30 a. m. the Mayo was sighted by the tugboat "The Vigilant" and the tugboat "The Vigilant" appeared to be the overtaken hull of a vessel. In the darkness it was impossible to identify the object definitely, according to Captain Hanson of the Mayo.

FRAUD IS LAID TOW. U. OPERATOR

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—Charging an unusual swindle by which the Western Union Telegraph company was defrauded out of $1800, a warrant was issued by the bond and warrant clerk charging grand larceny by trick and device by J. C. Cotter of Edinburgh, Wash. Cotter is an operator in that city. Last December, it is charged, Cotter was here on a visit. On December 8 there was found in the Western Union receiving office a code blank message wiring $1800 to W. A. Stewart of this city. It is alleged that Cotter left the message where it would be picked up, and that it was arranged in such a way as to make the operators believe that the money had been received in San Francisco. It was accordingly pigeon-holed and when W. A. Stewart, who it is charged, was in the office, Cotter appeared, the message being read as genuine, was taken as sufficient advice for the payment of the $1800 to him. The money was duly turned over today to J. C. Little, manager of the Western Union, procured the warrant for Cotter's arrest.

Propagation in the United States of bamboo shoots was first attempted ten or twelve years ago at Chico, Cal., and Brookville, Fla. The plants developed a "mitis" disease, which was not until recently discovered the hot water cure that hopes of growing bamboo for the market were bright.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR CHAMP CLARK HELD AT CAPITOL

Hall of Congress Is Crowded
With Mourners Paying Tribute to Leader.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Funeral services for Champ Clark in the hall of the House of Representatives today marked the final passage of the veteran legislator from the scene of his 26 years of political life and leadership as a member of Congress. The body of the late Democratic leader lay in state in the House chamber this morning.

HUNDREDS ATTEND
Long before the hour for the services the gallery had filled with hundreds who gathered to do honor to the former speaker. The casket, concealed completely by a great carpet of flowers, stood before the speaker's stand, but there was no mark of formality nor guard of uniformed police in the chamber to detract from the service, intended to show that it was a warrior of legislative battles, a plain American citizen without military pomp or rank, to whom the tribute was given.

MANY SEND FLOWERS
The odor of the flowers and their bright coloring lent a strange light to the big hall, and above it all, draped above the speaker's seat, was a broad national flag that looked down upon the warfare in the House over which Clark presided for eight years. Among the flowers brought about the casket was a wreath of lilies from President and Mrs. Harding.

There were floral tributes, too, from the Mississippi and North Carolina delegations and from Irish sympathizers, while among individuals who sent flowers were former Governor Cox of Ohio, and one marked simply "From a little Democratic boy from North Carolina." A monster basket of flowers came from the Democratic national committee.

Louis Rothman, district president of the district, is presiding. It is estimated that over 400 delegates are attending the convention.

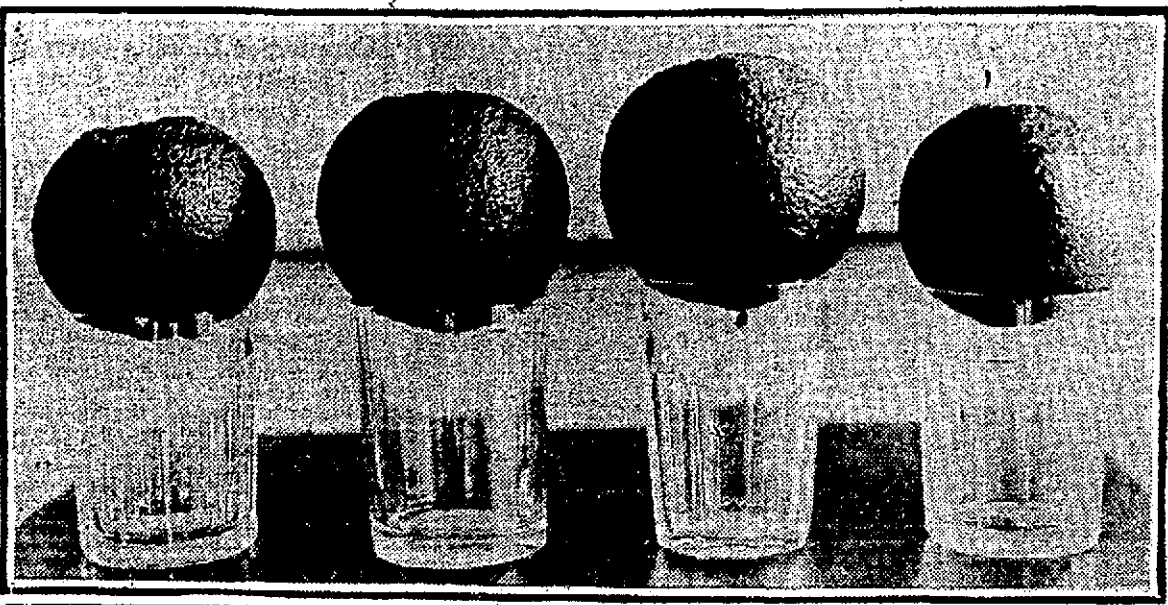

The event marks the first time that local artists have exhibited in sending their work throughout the state. The Artists Council of San Francisco is co-operating with the Delphinian Club in the visiting collections. On Tuesday, March 15, a second exhibit is announced in Elks Hall, Stockton. The benefit of the Delphinian chapters in Stockton, Modesto, Fresno and Modesto, Sacramento, Visalia and Fresno will shortly announce exhibiting lists.

They Grow 'Em Better in Byron

The two oranges in the center, the larger ones, were grown in Byron. They are not selections—they were picked at random from a tree in Harry Hammond's experimental orchard. The two on the outside are selected. They were the two largest in a box of Los Angeles oranges of the pack that sells at the highest price. The Byron fruit excels inside as well as out. It is much the sweeter, "juicier," and in all ways quite the fruit that would place Byron on a parity at the top of the market with Butte county, if the Byron section should make good on Hammond's demonstration and go in for citrus culture.

BARON SAKATANI FORESEES PEACE

TOKYO, March 5.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Baron Sakatani, ex-mayor of Tokyo, declares his opinion that American advocacy of the restriction of naval armaments is most welcome. Speaking through the newspaper Chugai Shogyo, he said: "The position of those Americans who advocate naval expansion seems to have been that the United States had to have the largest fleet in the world because America would join the League of Nations. This, they said, was not only for the sake of the Americans, but also for that of the whole world in case the League of Nations proved a failure. The Americans have now realized that such an attitude only encourages naval construction in other lands and that this race for armaments is against the spirit of peace. America's self-awakening in this respect, though yet limited only to a portion of the people, inspires the rest of the world with confidence and promises to bring the day of real international peace nearer."

"One regret about all this is that on account of the proposal to go on with the present scheme of expansion of the American navy, the proposed naval holiday of all the powers seems impracticable as an ideal. If the Americans really desire restriction of armaments as a means to promote peace, it is time for them to set the example, because the geographical position of the United States makes it easier for her to do so."

Dr. F. M. P., writing in the same paper, observes that Japan's naval expansion program is on a scale which is the minimum for the defense of those shores. "Its attention, therefore, with a view to restriction, is next to impossible. If Japan agrees to the proposed naval holiday, it must be in the sense that Japanese naval expansion will be spread over a longer period of years than designed at the present time."

"REBUILDING DOCTRINE" TO BE SUBJECT

Rev. Charles L. Kloss, pastor of Plymouth Congregational church, will be the first of a series of what he characterizes as "constructive sermons" tomorrow evening. Two weeks of motion pictures will be screened tomorrow evening. "The Greatest Gift" and "The Good Samaritan." AMBULANT HILL FORCES S. P. INTO SUIT TO CONDEMN

Railroad Moves to Protect the Right of Way on Contra Costa Bay Shore.

MARTINEZ, March 5.—The controversy surrounding construction of a stretch of highway at Hanna hill, where the road has been torn away for more than 100 feet because of constant earth slides, has been made more complex with the filing of a suit by the Southern Pacific company against the Crockett Land and Cattle company, in which the railroad asks a court order condemning 19.35 acres of land owned by the cattle company. The land covers virtually the entire slope of the sliding hill. The company maintains that ownership of the land is necessary to operation of its railroad. Earth slides have necessitated maintenance of wrecking crews by the company at Vallejo Junction for six weeks in order to keep open tracks.

It appears now that the sliding hill is to become the center of a fight of many factions, among which will be the highway commission; Thomas R. Hanna, manager of the cattle company; the Southern Pacific; Contra Costa county, and heads of industrial firms. Included in the land which the company asks to be condemned is the right-of-way donated early this week by Hanna for a new route for the highway.

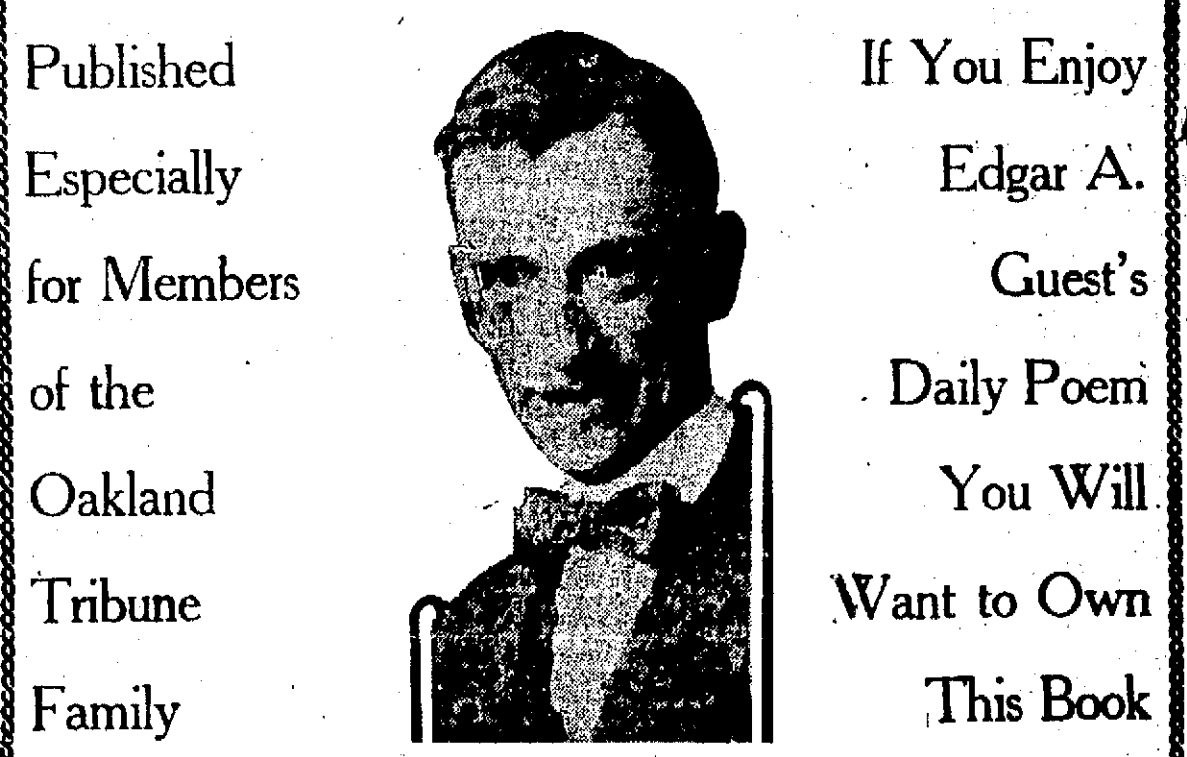

Pago Pago Prisoners Go Home Week Ends

PAGO PAGO, Samoa, March 5.—American Samoa has a jail system that probably would appeal to prisoners in the States. Every Saturday afternoon at the American post office the prisoners are granted parole until 6 o'clock Monday morning. Most of the prisoners are their week-ends visiting relatives, many going long distances. Parole rules were tightened recently when it was found several of the prisoners tampered with the mail officers at Tutuila while enjoying their Saturday night freedom. The men received heavy sentences, without the parole privileges.

ANTI-VIVISECTION SESSION

Big Game in 'B' League Will Be At Alameda Lot

One More Win Will About Cinch the Flag for the Melrose Club.

With only one more victory needed to assure them that no other team in the league can stop the Class B buntless without a special series, the Melrose Merchants, leaders of the Class B race of The TRIBUNE League, will play the Halton-Didders tomorrow afternoon at Lincoln Park in Alameda. The big game will be witnessed by a large crowd, as the Halton-Didders are expected to be out.

The game was originally scheduled to be played at the Elmhurst diamond, but because of the high standing which each club has in the race, and the poor accommodations for a large crowd at the Elmhurst diamond, it was announced last night by President Krumb that the game will be played at the Alameda lot. Harry Mohley, star pitcher for the Elmhurst boys, will pitch for the Halton-Didders against the Melrose boys who will be represented by Frank Mitterwall, the best bet. The game will start at 2:15 sharp.

The Crystal Laundry Juniors who are running next to the Melrose boys, will meet the Elmhurst Juniors at the Key System diamond, Fortieth and San Pablo avenue. The Halton-Didders are fighting to stay out of the cellar, so to speak, to put up a good contest with the pennant contenders. Eddie Nelson, pitcher for the Melrose, and Paul (Lefty) Fein or "Duke" Miller for the Halton-Didders, will be the pitchers.

By DOUG MONTELL
Coach Bobby Johnson staged a most successful evening last night at Harmon gym, when he produced four inter-class boxing bouts in the annual inter-class boxing tournament. Action was the by-word of the evening, and the youngsters were led for honors, with two finals to their credit, while the juniors had gathered 20 bouts being declared draws. For an inter-class boxing exhibition there was more action in the square than in the ring.

Ortega Hands Frank Carbone A Walloping

Body Punches Bring Claims of "Foul" From Carbone Corner.

Battling Ortega had little trouble in defeating Frank Carbone in a five-round bout in New York last night, according to all reports. The news services simply state that "Ortega defeated Carbone easily," while a wire from Tommy Simpson says, among other things, "There was nothing to it but the batter."

Simpson denies there has been trouble between him and the fighter and waxes facetious on the subject. "Sure the batter left me," says T. S. in long night letter, "but he came back as soon as he got whacked."

Here's another telegram that came out of New York this morning addressed to The TRIBUNE.

New York, March 5. Bob Shand, Oakland TRIBUNE.

Battling Ortega of California availed himself of Frank Carbone of the Pioneer Sporting Club here tonight with some reprehensible tactics that the judges did not hesitate about awarding the decision to Ortega.

Carbone was thoroughly outclassed when the California began to belt away with body punches for his side. Carbone complained that Ortega was hitting low. The referee simply said, "You're a sucker."

A dozen times in the first ten rounds Carbone was on the point of quitting, but he was kept on his feet. Each time he was warned to continue. Ortega, fearful of losing his opponent, finally decided to quit.

Carbone was badly hurt by the body punches and his eyes were closed. He was taken to the hospital and is expected to be all right in a few days.

CLEVELAND, March 5.—The ten-round boxing contest between the Cleveland boxer, Willie Williams, and Bryan Downey at Cleveland, scheduled for March 17 at Canton has been canceled. It was announced today.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

By RUD MORIARTY.
Captain Russ Avery's Technical high school basketball quintet pulled a surprise yesterday afternoon at the Auditorium in a game with the high school's measure by a 21-13 score. Before the fray the odds were 2 to 1 in favor of the home team.

In half-time the score read 15 to 8 in favor of the winners. This was the result of the excellent play of the Oaklanders. Hoffman, scorer, led the team with 10 points.

Ed Dowd was the guarding star of the Oaklanders. Hoffman, scorer, led the team with 10 points.

PROBLEM TO DECIDE WHICH LEFT HANDED MUST WALK PLANK

Foreman Howard Lini ng Up Bunch the Entire Squad Will Be in Camp Next Week.

By BOB SHAND
Some day early next week the Oakland ball club will announce the signing of a right-handed pitcher. J. Cal Ewing, Del Howard and Honus Mitze admit the deal is in the making but they won't tip their hand until the player is safely landed. With another right-hander the heaving staff will be ready for action as Ray Kremer, Buzz Arlett and Harry Siebold are in camp now and Lane Shultis, Gene Kertsten and Hilton will be given a chance to catch on with the club. In addition to the starboard choppers George Winn, Harry Krause, Joe Boehling and Ernie Allen, left handed, will start the season. Krause, Allen and Boehling are in camp now and showing signs of life while Winn has signed his contract and is on his way west. J. Cal made a crack some time ago that the club might carry four southpaws all season but Cal is a great little kiddier and made the remark at a time when he had but two right-handers on his staff. The southpaws on the roster at present are all experienced men and if they are in trim when the season starts Foreman Howard is going to have a terrible time shipping one of them out of the league.

THE WAY BESS DEAN

"DISCLOSED HER HAND"

As I saw Bess Dean I wondered at my own stupidity in not recognizing her in Katie's tirade. "She looks at me as if I was one of those monkeys up in zoo." This trick of apparently smiling to herself, although she confines it to her eyes and never lets it appear on her lips, is Bess Dean's most effective weapon with refractory pupils. She uses it mercilessly, not only upon the children in her care, but upon any one else who happens to amuse her, or whom she desires to make uncomfortable.

Complex personality is Bess Dean's. Unusually good looking, dashing and audacious, with no sense of dignity, usually, although she can be positively stately when she chooses—she is the last person whom one would imagine in a school room. But she is marvelously effective there, and has the reputation of turning out higher percentages on examinations than any one else in the school. She has perfect discipline, and her pupils certainly know intelligently the particular part of the curriculum which is her lot. But the children hate her as cordially as she dislikes them. I am afraid that in character building or in giving the children a love for reading or study—which, after all, are the most necessary results of teaching—Bess Dean fails miserably.

Not that Bess Dean considers it failure. Her attitude toward her pupils is summed up in her favorite epithet, "uninteresting." "Uninteresting brats," and the first adjective is the plumb line by which she measures every one she meets. If a man or woman, especially a man, be interesting, Bess Dean will cultivate that acquaintance assiduously. If not, she consigns the drab personality to the outermost rim of her social horizon.

A FLIPPANT GREETING

That she considered me fairly "interesting" I had known ever since I met her. That she considered Dicky still more so, I had also learned rather forcibly upon one or two occasions. The knowledge had not augmented my rather slender liking for the girl, and several other revelations of the absolute selfishness and cold indifference toward human relations which her careless, good-natured manner concealed, had made me almost actively dislike her. I fancy she reciprocates my feeling, for any time she looks at me, she glances at me twice as long as I finished my year as her colleague in the Mayview school. Her call upon me was a surprise, although I suspected it was simply a careless whim to please Miss Holcomb, who, for all her cynicism, is staunch in her friendships, and she has always liked Miss Dean sincerely. I think she has unconsciously brought out, as emphasized in the points in which the other woman's character. And I am sure that Bess Dean gives to the older woman the very best friendship and liking of which her cold nature is capable.

Her greeting to me was characteristic, as flippant as if we had seen each other but a few hours instead of months before.

"Well! How's the hero-o-ne?" she drawled, in any tone of indifference and bringing long low souls together. From the looks of you it doesn't pay, dearie. Have you been ill?"

"I DO HOPE"

Alice's face crimsoned, and with a supreme effort kept myself from drawing. Let her have a little more calculated or careless it had certainly been effective. She had succeeded in making me feel supremely ridiculous, and implanted a doubt as to whether or not I looked as she had implied. That she knew a great deal more than I wished of the inside story of the Stockbridge case I realized by Alice Holcomb's embarrassed flush, but was reassured by the mere fact of Miss Holcomb's declaration months before that "Bess Dean is as safe as a church."

"Never felt better in my life," I returned shortly, "and you? But you know me, tell me, you're looking uncommonly well."

I spoke only the truth, although I should not have made a disparaging comment if she had looked ever so bad. My little remark made that one of the principles of my earliest training.

"No gentleman, no one who possesses real breeding, is ever catty in her remarks," she used to say to me as a child. But I remember her once when I was older and she repeated the words, she half-closed her eyes and added softly, "unless she is goaded beyond endurance. Sometimes, and it is the case, sometimes she can do it. But use it rarely, perhaps a half-dozen times in your life."

I have followed her advice, and have used up perhaps two of the half-dozen times she allotted me. But I did not consider that enough importance to warrant the wasting of a shaft of satire.

She took the compliment as she would have done its reverse, without the conscious blink of an eye-lash.

"I think, myself, I'm a bit spiffy," she said complacently. "What do you think of my suit? I'm perfectly mad about it, couldn't wait until I showed it to some one besides Boyview, where they all lamped it the first day I had it on. So when Alice said she was coming over here I jumped at the chance, to come along. I do hope Prince Husband will happen in before I depart. I'd love to have his artistic approval of me costume."

Words & Wise

Timeless life is destined always for failure. Let us have an object in view and work for it.

Sincerity is like traveling in a plain beaten road, which commonly brings a man across to his journey's end, and then by byways in which it is often possible to lose one's self.

We cannot cheat the world for it is like a looking-glass, it shows up all the imperfections.

CRY Geraldine's SHOULDER

I'm going to print the following letter for a peculiar reason. I consider it one of the most horrible letters I ever received. I love little girls. I haven't the least doubt that I would love this particular 10-year-old little girl. But when—However, read the letter while I gather steam for this is going to be SOME explosion:

Dear Jerry: I am only a little girl only 10 years old. Why is it, Jerry, that at school when you were playing that you would have to put your hand on a boy's shoulder and then everybody looked shocked and sympathetic as though a boy was a dreadful creature? I surely do not think that we should be like that. I used to play with a boy nearly every day. Was it sentiment? No, it was just pure friendship.

Another thing, Jerry, you know you told us to write about girls receiving expensive gifts from a boy. I don't think they should, because, you see, if something happened and made them marry each other, then the girl would feel obliged to the boy. And if it was something she wanted and did not want to give up why then it would be awfully hard to do.

And, oh, Jerry, I want to say something to the mothers who have kiddies and want to get divorced, don't do it. It's agony for them, the questions of the friends and when they find out most of them are shocked. And when they find out they are unhappy, too. I know it, Jerry, 'cause I've got too often. But aside from all these Jerry I love you very awfully much. Lovingly yours, SOMEBODY.

Now for Jerry's View

If that letter were unique I might forget the distressing fact that a mere baby has such an unchildlike range of interests and thought and such a thoroughly unhealthy sophistication. But that letter isn't unique. I could show you SCORES of HUNDREDS of little cored darlings in our Oakland town who are thinking and saying just the same things. HOW DO I KNOW? BECAUSE THEY WRITE TO ME ABOUT IT. And whose fault is it? The fault of the mothers who discuss their domestic trials and tribunes before their children. Yes, I MEAN YOU—just about 99 per cent of you all. You think the "little darling" isn't listening? The little darling is laughing it up with all her ears and making a human phonograph of herself. MOREOVER SHE UNDERSTANDS PERFECTLY WHAT YOU ARE TALKING ABOUT. For she has been compared with all the other little girls.

It's the fault of all the grown-ups who tease babies about "having fellows" and think it's a great joke. As for you, little Jerry, and the children into whose world and then are too lazy to look after them, people who do not supervise the books their children read, the movies they see, the friends they make. The fault is not in the little girl, it is in the mother who lets her daughter to see a modern sex play SHOULD BE HAULED OUT BY THE EAR. Don't tell me you have no one to leave her with. STAY HOME THEN. What "would you do" if you had a small boy on a booze jag? Well, it's no more revolting and NOT NEARLY AS HARMFUL as taking a little girl to a modern sex play and YOU, HER MOTHER, are as truly going on a disgusting jag yourself. I'm no prude. I go to some of them. But I'm always rather ashamed of myself when I do, AND I DON'T TAKE LITTLE GIRLS.

As for "Somebody," you belong outdoors playing tag and growing freckles and not discussing the Jerry column. I love you heaps—but I'll love you heaper if you'll let yourself be a real little girl, a tomboy, and not a horrible little copy of a silly grown-up mind. I was poking little boys in the eye when I was your age and not thinking foolish things about them.

Owning the Children

THE PARENT AND THE CHILD—there you have the biggest theme in life—the reason underlying all human progress and effort. We're beginning to think about it very strongly in this column. Jerry welcomes any sincere expression of thought on any side of the question. Here is a BIG TALK. I wish some of you other Big Thinkers would give your opinions on it.

Dear Geraldine: Do parents OWN their children? Do you? Is that your belief, folks? Do you keep before your offspring the notion that they are your possession?

Listen, World!

If you want to get right next to the throbbing heart of humanity, read the fashion notes. It may mean nothing to you that skirts are worn under the left earlobe this year, or how to cut an evening dress on the bias without the bias knowing it. But you'll find out a lot about the bias and straight human nature. Take a review I read lately. It seems that the price of men's gloves won't be advanced this year because the man balked so at $5 last year that the dealers don't dare tack on another two.

"There," said the lady reviewer, "is a demonstration of the superior cooperation of men. They've united on glove phorism, as it were, and they'll see it through. But women couldn't do that. If a pair of $15 shoes are boycotted by ten women, the eleventh is sure to buy them, and thus confound them by having the prettiest slippers in her set."

Now I don't think that's a demonstration of masculine esprit de corps at all, but of plain horse sense. Men aren't "organizing" against $7 gloves and $15 slippers. The normal adult male doesn't crave gloves at any price, and well the dealer knows it. You can get a lotta action out of men if you just let 'em have the price of real estate, but when it comes to lingerie, if you press 'em too hard they'll take their red flannel plain. But women are different. They're at the mercy of slipper dealers because they're at the mercy of slippers.

by natural right and that they owe you absolute submission to your will in exchange for the privilege of being alive and fed and clothed. That they are in any measure responsible for the "burden" they are to you? THEN YOU ARE CONTRIBUTING TO THE PERPETUAL INJUSTICE SHARED BY GENERATIONS OF MISUSED CHILDHOOD!

Children are not burdens, they are sacred obligations to be assumed BY THOSE WHO CAN, WHO WILL, and those who will are those who KNOW AND RESPECT THE LAW THAT MAKES IT POSSIBLE.

If you are among those who lack the will, who are ignorant of the law, or who are not YOU ARE SELFISH COWARDS AND MORAL "DEAD BEATS."

Posterity is in nowise a possession of preceding generations; we belong to posterity. Those lives that have launched forth into consciousness of the world's conditions are honor bound to make as successful as our means and knowledge will permit. This means that they have launched forth into consciousness of the world's conditions, and morally with full development of natural talent, the greatest legacy posterity can inherit. For those who have talent with wealth beyond need of its development and sympathy for those whose talent is begrudged them by parents unwisely exacting of absolute submission to their will, who deny them the rights of maturity.

If you care for your offspring merely hoping that some day they will support you, you are reversing the law. The only way your life should be sufficient for yourselves, else you are in no wise equipped for responsibility of other lives. Your offspring owe you respect and honor inasmuch as you have accorded them their due, and if you have accorded them their due they will be fully aware of their obligation. The notion that you have a

Perpetual Canuck I think you are over-sensitive and shy, and that you have exaggerated a little incident. Undoubtedly she did not see you at all. A Clean Looking Job

Dear Jerry: I've read your column every night since it began and having seen that nice, shiny new suit you always give I have decided to ask you something.

Jerry, if you were waiting for a car and met, young, cute, looking good came up and began to talk to you, what would you do? Of course in order to be perfectly proper, if you've never seen him before, you should snub him, but it is so hard to do when they look so handsome. What can I do? Please tell me soon.

I heard a girl say you probably were a very old, old maid, but I told her I didn't think so at all. I think you must be young and very nice.

If you are going to speak to all lonely kids, you'd better make a record and tote a photograph around.

Stage Folks and Home

Here's a song from a happy heart, and I'm very glad to print. The "Babe" referred to was a little actress who wondered if a home life could be happy for "stage folk."

Dear Geraldine: I am not coming to cry on your shoulder, but I couldn't resist writing to let "Babe" know there are others in the world who feel the same as she. I, too, have been behind the footlights and in the circus ring practically all my life and even though I loved the applause and to thrill the crowds I have always longed to have a real man who would work for me and for whom I didn't have to risk my neck to help him earn the living for, as she says the majority of men in the profession don't rate very high, but my opportunity came suddenly and I took it. I have turned my back forever on all things theatrical. I have a real man and a home, my dream has come true and I am absolutely happy, and my advice to Babe is to do as I have done—never ever think of connecting you with the past and live your life for him only and don't worry that it's the lure of show life that attracts him to you, for if he's a big, clean-minded man like mine he can't fail to see the sordid side of the show business.

I hope you will publish this, Jerry, for there are a few people whom I would like to have in the world who feel the same as I. I have a question to their questioning of what I have done. I won't sign my name, it is too well known, but I really hope you will find a small space for this letter and it might help someone. M. E. D.

Loves and Leaves Him

Dear Geraldine: I am an interested reader of your column. Unknowingly you have solved many of my problems along with the others. Now I have a question of my own that I would like you to answer.

I was and am yet in love with a young lady. She is married. Although she is taking steps toward getting a divorce, I feel as though I have no right to love her.

She feels the same way. A week ago she told me that although she loved me dearly she had no right to do so. The next day she went away, and I can not find her.

She's the most wonderful little woman in the world and I love her more than life itself. Tell me, Jerry, what will I do? Please answer this.

DESPONDENT.

It wasn't possible to answer your letter when it arrived, Pal, and I'm wondering how things have worked out. Do you know, I think that little girl has got into one of the bravest things in the world? There's only one advice to give you—WAIT. The most precious thing about her must be her loyalty to her ideals. If she loves you she will tell you where she is when the time comes.

Write Her a Letter

A Lad of Repentance. Go to it, boy! Write her a letter, tell her what you feel, and don't let her know you won't forget the one little white lie. She will, I think, if she is "interested."

You've talked to her so much and about such interesting things that I should think you could decide on some book she particularly wants. A book is valued as a gift without having the money value that makes the exchange of presents sometimes embarrassing.

Jack C. If it is only friendship she feels for this other boy I don't see that you should interfere. If there is a more personal relationship, give her up, if she won't or can't see your viewpoint. I believe in friendship, generous, close ones, but not stolen kisses that lead to pain and unhappiness to another.

Perpetual Canuck I think you are over-sensitive and shy, and that you have exaggerated a little incident. Undoubtedly she did not see you at all. Late FASHION Hints

One pleasing feature in the new spring suits is their variety of style. Some have formal coats that emphasize the severe tailored effects so much admired by certain types of women. Others affect the lines of the mandarin or the youthful-looking elon.

The model at the left is an ideal suit for the young woman who retains a girlish figure. It is fashioned from beige gabardine. The skirt is straight, with slight fullness at sides and back. Two slip-in pockets distinguish the front.

The smart coat is trimmed with rows of silk braid in matching tones. A two-button fastening is introduced below the straight collar.

The hat reveals a clever union of narrow green pleated-edged ribbon and beige angora.

The suit at the right is originated in a silvery gray gabardine, a color which is essentially spring-like. The skirt is finely pleated in knife mode.

On the sleeves and pockets is some line embroidery in blue silk. This decoration is also used on the vest, which is a conspicuous feature of the open-fronted suit. The belt is held together by a triangular buckle of green enamel.

The black tulle hat shows a daring trimming of burnt goose feathers.

"JEHOVA" SYKES' BAIL FORFEITED; ARREST ORDERED

Fails to Appear to Serve His Sentence and Federal Court
Outlaws Him.

Joshua ("Jehova") Sykes, head of the so-called Church of the Living God, and A. M. Dean, one of his disciples, failed today to surrender to the federal authorities in San Francisco to begin prison sentences, and their bail of $5,000 each was ordered forfeited and bench warrants issued for their immediate arrest wherever they are found. At the same time, governmental agencies started a nationwide search for the pair.

The warrants for the arrest of Sykes and Dean are unlimited in their powers and can be served in any part of the world, with the exception of Honduras.

Sykes and Dean were out on bonds pending appeal from sentences imposed upon them by the United States District court, following their conviction of having violated the espionage act while "Prophet" Sykes and his associates were conducting a "temple" in Berkeley. The forfeited bonds will have to be made good by the surety company which acted as bondsmen for the defendants.

John J. Ferguson and Joseph Cosby, who were identified with Sykes and found guilty of violating the espionage act, were in court today to be sentenced to prison terms of one year and a day. They are to be taken to McNeil Island.

Sykes was under a sentence of eighteen months, while Dean's sentence had been fixed at one year and a day. He recently was taken into custody in Denver, but later released by the police, in the belief they could not hold him as a federal bench warrant had not been issued up to that time.

Last reports received from Sykes were that he had sailed for San Francisco and would appear in court on the time set. He failed to appear, however.

LOST AIRDALE IS FOUND WITH FAMILY OF SIX

BERKELEY, March 5.—What promised to be a sad event turned into an occasion for rejoicing yesterday at the home of Mrs. J. H. Howe, well known Berkeley businesswoman, at 2530 Russell street.

Howe called upon the police to aid him in searching for an airdale dog, a family pet for years.

For two days, said the businesswoman, in his plaint to the police, he had been missing. Never before had she been in such a manner, he volunteered.

Berkeley officers assigned to the case conducted a search of the neighborhood and, at last, the dog was found in the basement of the Howe home.

"Here she is," they called to the Howes assembled in anxious expectation.

"Is she dead?" came the breathless question.

"Dead nothing," was the answer. "Come and look at her."

The missing airdale was found happy and contented and in good company. She was surrounded by six healthy puppies.

Woman Who Invaded U. C. Is Held Insane

Mrs. Selena Fisher, aged 34, 1207 Moraga street, San Francisco, was committed to Agnew State Hospital for the insane by Judge A. F. St. Clair today after an insanity hearing at the Emergency hospital.

Mrs. Fisher was brought into the hospital yesterday by the Berkeley police after she had caused a scene in the University of California classroom. She is obsessed with the delusion that it is her mission to revolutionize the entire knowledge of the world. She formerly entered a class-room yesterday while a professor was lecturing to the students and interrupted his discourse by stating to the students that he was teaching them the wrong thing.

Charles Fisher, her husband, testified that his wife had the delusion that she was the recipient of special electric waves of knowledge which brought to her the inner secrets of the universe.

Revolving Fund Is Planned For Market

BERKELEY, March 5.—Instead of $10,000 as originally planned, Berkeley's municipal market will have a revolving fund of $50,000, according to the plans of Councilman Carl Bartlett, father of the city project.

A bond ordinance which would appropriate $50,000, $20,000 of which would provide equipment and $30,000 for the purchase of foodstuffs, was given to council members yesterday for perusal by Councilman Bartlett. Action was delayed until Tuesday's meeting of the council.

The new measure supplements an ordinance creating a municipal market, which was passed a week ago by the council. That the market project will become an issue at the April election in Berkeley as a result of threats to referendum, it is expected by city officials.

Story Tellers to Meet in Berkeley

BERKELEY, March 5.—The monthly meeting of the Berkeley Story Telling League will be held in the children's room of the Berkeley public library on Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. Those joining the league during February and March will be registered as charter members.

Following the business meeting there will be a program presented which will include a talk on "The Art of Story Telling," followed by a discussion of folk art fairy tales. Examples will be given illustrating those suitable for groups of children to the age of six, from six to ten, from ten to fourteen, and from fourteen to the adult age group. Those attending in the program are Miss Ruby Campbell, Mrs. Luther Neff, Mrs. C. Webster and Mrs. H. H. Clark.

Margaret Logan of Berkeley Declares She Has No Fears of "Mixing It" With Burglar

BERKELEY, March 5.—Miss Margaret Logan, high school student, has no fear of burglars.

For as one of her most cherished possessions is a medal which labels her as the best marksman in Berkeley, hitting a 25-cent piece from a distance of 100 feet is one of her accomplishments.

Miss Logan, who resides at 827 Mendocino road, learned to shoot as a member of a girls' rifle club conducted at a Codomo park by playground department. So adept did she prove that she entered a contest which won her a medal.

A steady nerve and a clear head are the essentials for a good marksman, she says. Late parties and too much frivolity must be eschewed by the girl who would hit the bulls-eye with success, she adds.

"NIGHTY NIGHT" HALTS CYRUS, TILL FISTS FLY

"Nighty night" said a sweet little voice from an upstairs window on lower Broadway as Cyrus Noble—no relative of the Cyrus Noble living at a late hour last night. Noble lived only a few doors away and had plenty of time to tarry.

"Nighty night," replied Noble, and stopped.

Silence followed.

"Nighty night," called Noble in a louder voice.

Then came the hailstorm, or whatever it was. A person whom Noble believed to have been acting in the capacity of the husband of the little lady with the nighty-night voice descended from the stairway and the air was filled with heavy fists, all of which seemed to be heading for Noble. He struggled to the police station and told his story.

Vincente As Street Name Is Preferred

BERKELEY, March 5.—Vallejo avenue isn't one-half as romantic as the picturesque sounding "Vincente" avenue, in the opinion of residents along the latter thoroughfare in Thousand Oaks.

As a result, a petition signed by thirty persons who reside on Vicente avenue, has reached the City Council asking that the name of the street be not changed. It was the intention of the city fathers to change the street name to Vallejo avenue, as a result of the confusion of Vicente avenue with Vincente road in Claremont. Vincente avenue is included in the district recently annexed to Berkeley, and a general re-naming of streets to avoid confusion is planned.

Among those protesting the changing of Vicente avenue to Vallejo avenue are Senator William Kelcey, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Houle, Mr. and Mrs. Horatio Alling, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Johnson, and about a score more. The petition has been referred to the city planning commission.

CAR KNOCKED OFF TRACK BY MOTOR; AUTO UNDAUNTED

Electroliner Smashed, Tree
Felled As Passengers Are Messed Up.

ALAMEDA, March 5.—A dozen passengers were piled in a heap upon the floor, a street car was knocked off the track, a tree was broken off short and an electroliner was wrecked when the automobile of O. F. Westphal, a leading Alameda jeweler, collided with a High street one-man street car at High street and Central avenue, last night. The only damage to the auto was a broken front fender.

The automobile was driven by Harry Westphal, son of the owner. The car was north-bound when the automobile, east-bound on Central avenue, struck it fairly amidships. Although the bulk was with the electric car, the contest was decidedly in favor of the gas propelled machine. Before J. A. Meyers, the motorman, could shove on the current his car was toppled off the track and the electroliner was dented. It only ended when the motorman crashed up against the electroliner at the roadside. No one was injured.

This morning Al C. Benton, superintendent of the city, is investigating the damage to the tree and curbing, in order to hand a bill to the ones responsible.

CAPTAIN GOFF IS ACROBATIC IN BOOZE RAID

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—Captain of Police Charles Goff is an athlete of no mean capabilities and is somewhat adept at the art of acrobatics. He used this talent to good advantage today in a raid on the soft drink emporium at 639 Third street. Armed with a search warrant Captain Goff and U. S. Prohibition agent, Albert Sadler, with a bound Goff summa-marshaled over the bar and caught Roy Morris, bartender, about to drop a bottle of whiskey through a hole in the ceiling into a room ten feet below. He seized the evidence and a moment later he caught John Holland, one of the proprietors, as he entered with a bottle of liquor in his possession.

Behind the electric piano was a satchel containing a half dozen bottles of booze which Holland is alleged to have also brought with him. Proceeding to the Hotel Ritz, 215 Eddy street, the officers arrested Holland's partner, Albert Sadler, with a whole room full of intoxicants. All three were charged with violating the prohibition laws.

In the basement of the Third street place broken glass and corks were found indicating that on several occasions the "drop" system of destroying evidence had been resorted to.

Oh, Gee, Says Ah Gee as He Pungles Ten

Considerable excitement was caused in Police Judge Smith's court this morning by the testimony of Ah Gee, Chinaman, charged with having lottery tickets in his possession. Exhibiting a lottery ticket, Prosecuting Attorney Fred Donahue said:

"Ah Gee, did you ever see this ticket before?"

"Yes, I secum ticky befo' once."

"Where?"

"When policeman come up me say 'You ever see ticky befo'?' And had you ever seen the ticket before that?"

"No, sir; policeman come up me, show me ticky, I say 'You ever see ticky befo'?' I say 'No.' Policeman say 'You come along.'"

The judge apparently did not take Gee's testimony as outweighing that of Patrolman Peters, who was the only witness against the Chinaman. He fined him $10.

Mail Bandits In Los Angeles Stole $1,000,000

Mexican Border Is Watched for Robbers Who Held Up
U. S. Truck.

RE UNITED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.
LOS ANGELES, March 5.—Disclosure by postoffice officials that lost robbery money may exceed $1,000,000, today spurred officers in their hunt for the bandits—three or four in number.

All Southern California was being combed for the highwaymen who escaped with a dozen sacks of registered mail, after handcuffing a driver and a clerk to a United States mail truck near a crowded downtown intersection. Deputy sheriffs are keeping a close watch on the Mexican border, following reports that the robbers were seen heading toward San Diego in an automobile.

They stopped in Santa Ana. It is believed, to replenish their supply of gasoline. It had been estimated that the dozen pouches contained money and papers valued at not more than $20,000, but Assistant Postmaster A. B. Foster revealed that in the stolen sacks were more than $1,000,000 in cash. Liberty bonds and coupons, in addition, he said, they contained about $750,000 in checks. The checks and empty sacks were discarded by the robbers in their flight. The only things left behind, he said, are said to be covered by insurance.

A second mail robbery was reported to local authorities today by Postmaster O. W. Berkoff of Zelma, 25 miles north of Los Angeles. The postmaster reported the office had been ransacked during the night. Postal inspectors were rushed to the scene. The amount of loot obtained in this robbery has not been determined.

U. C. Girl Students Seek Oxen and Cart

BERKELEY, March 5.—Has any one a pair of oxen and an ox cart out in their back yard?

University of California co-eds are greatly concerned, since the "script" of the "Lilies of the Field," the 1921 Parthenon calls for two white oxen and a cart. Even the principal of Agriculture cannot supply their needs. White oxen are preferred, but the committee in charge is willing to accept anything in the shape of an ox as long as it has been used to the yoke.

"Jazz bands are entirely lacking in Indian society," he said, "and when a young man wants to have a dancing party he only has to engage one musician, a singer," Donson declared, however, that Indian parties make up in length what they lack in jazz.

LAWS TO CHECK JAPANESE IS AIM OF LEAGUE

Citizens of California Urged to Curb Influx of the Orientals.

Declaring his view that those "who have made a careful study and investigation of the matter are convinced that favorable legislation, both state and national, is necessary if we would protect our industrial, agricultural and commercial interests against the encroachments of the Japanese," Peter J. Crowley, appointed chairman of the executive committee of the Japanese Exclusion League, today issued a statement in behalf of the league.

The organization now is engaged in a campaign for 200,000 members and to raise funds for publicity and other work both in the West and the East.

In part his statement follows: "We know that the Japanese are aggressive and ambitious. The history of the past 20 years teaches us that they are curiously seeking a foothold on these western shores of the Americas and that they have met with considerable success along this line beyond question. We of California, therefore, must organize our citizens in such a manner that we shall be able to procure the enactment of such laws in our own state and in the Congress of the United States as will effectively curb and restrict Japanese influence and power in our state and nation. To this end all citizens of California are earnestly requested to study this problem and give immediate aid, both by personal service and financial assistance to the Japanese Exclusion League."

INDIAN CAN'T BLUFF LIKE HIS WHITE BROTHER

BERKELEY, March 5.—Police patrolmen and jazz bands are about the only things which William Benson, Pomo Indian, can find as differences between the native life of his tribe and the life of a white man. Benson recently left the University of California for his native home in the northern part of the state. His parting words to the students he was instructing in the features of native life were that he could mark no other differences than these.

"In Indian civilization," said Benson, "when men break rules a patrol wagon is not called, but the offender is initiated to high honors in some tribal society, and thus he is forced to see the weight of responsibility which he must bear. Indians have never learned the American game of bluff," he said. "They have never found how to do anything but tell the truth or directly contradict."

"Jazz bands are entirely lacking in Indian society," he said, "and when a young man wants to have a dancing party he only has to engage one musician, a singer," Donson declared, however, that Indian parties make up in length what they lack in jazz.

Health Man Ired by Too Much Query

Dr. Kirby Smith, city health officer, went on scotch today again. Various college or industrial search agencies which desire statistics for study and for compiling tables of the nation's health.

The "last straw" came in a letter today from a medical student in the east, who asks the Oakland health department to "please explain the organization of the Oakland department and trace the history of diseases in the city, with their causes," and also asks how the books are kept and what rules are observed as to quarantine, vaccination, Asiatic infections and everything else.

"It's too much," says Dr. Smith. "If we were to try to answer every one of these blanket queries which pour in from all over the country, our staff would be half as big enough for that work alone."

"We are always glad to give information about the health department to the public, but the queries from cities, states and the government, and also from colleges, but when it comes to these blanket queries, I can only say we are not in the book publishing business."

TERMINAL BEING
PROJECTED HERE

Building At Foot of Broadway
Would Reach From Fourth
St. to Outer Harbor.

Construction at a cost of $50,000, 000 of a unified railroad terminal similar to the World Wonder terminal at New York, is being planned at the foot of Broadway extending from Fourth street to the outer harbor line, with 3300 feet of water frontage, a length of 1600 feet, arching between streets, is protected for Oakland, according to A. P. Gillies, consulting engineer for the Consolidated American Railroad Terminal Corporation, San Francisco, Cal., who is here today with eastern engineers, seeking endorsements and making surveys for the scheme. According to Gillies, the plan is extending to Alameda by the government of the naval base. Gillies declared that the city is the ideal site and that the city is the only place for the proposed terminal, and that there is no doubt but what the plan would be accepted and carried out.

EARLY ACTION URGED

It is planned to have the terminal completed within a year after it is built. He has been annoyed by the city

In addition to Gillies, the other engineers who are in the city in the interests of the project are W. E. Bankson, of Minneapolis, and Linslie Duncan, formerly consulting engineer for the Gugenheim people. W. J. Morgan of Oakland, is assisting them in the promotion of the plan.

The proposed building with its 1600 and 3300 feet of street and water frontage respectively, will contain 15,000,000 square feet of classified floor space. This will be used

The building will completely cover all ground and streets from Fourth street south to the outer line of the harbor, at the lower end of Broadway with an approach of four blocks. While covering the streets, the terminal will be built so as not to interfere with traffic. According to the plans, the streets will be arched.

THREE YEARS TO BUILD

A period of three years from the time actual operations are begun

terminal, according to Gillies. It will be built in three units and as soon as one is completed, work will be begun on the others. The promoters of the project will seek approval of the Barclay, Farsons and Clapp Companies and the New York City Board of Transportation.

Gillies said he has built and promoted railroad terminals in London, Australia and other parts of the world, declared that the proposed union station here will not be built for Oakland as it is at present, but for the Oakland of the future. He said that the Army and navy have authorized the government has authorized the construction at a cost of $100,000,000 will bring another $100,000,000.

Cotton Mills Will Suspend For Time

The California Cotton Mills will suspend work on Monday, March 1, in some of its departments for a short time and the management of the mills stated that all Eastern and southern textile mills have been within the past four months, either wholly or partially closed, and are running slow. This condition is being caused by the great fall in prices of manufactured goods and the shortage of orders from both jobbers and retailers who have been working on a "hand to mouth" system of ordering; or, in other words, carrying no stock.

The California full time during the business depression. The mills have been shut down and only now have to cut down production in order to reduce the stock of surplus goods of various kinds. When business is revived competition with southern mills is always stronger and this is another big factor at the present time for the mills here.

It is hoped that the full force of workers soon will be employed again.

The management looks forward with great encouragement to the future of manufacturing in the United States, knowing that the party of protection to American industry is again in power and bettering that a great industry will be protected and encouraged and become larger and stronger as possible. This will be a great benefit to the country.

low wages of Europe and Japan enable diversified industries of kinds to be maintained and promoted in this country, thereby giving employment to all who are willing to work. It should not be forgotten that the greatest market for goods in the United States. Every thing possible should be done to stimulate and encourage home industry and thus have a busy and prosperous people.

SCHOOLS WILL SHOW WORK OF THE CHILDREN

Vocational Students to Be Given Chance to Display in May

The applied arts section of the Oakland school department is planning a May festival of unique character on May 5, 6 and 7 in the auditorium, in conjunction with the merchants of the city.

According to present plans by the superintendent of schools, the works of the various art and industrial departments will be placed on exhibition side by side with the regular finished products of commercial institutions, not only to show the progress of the school department

It is not expected that the products of school students will come to the attention of the general public, but the educators, but it will be a demonstration of how near the school children can come. The comparison will also bring out the defects of the school products and point where improvement is needed.

The little exposition, as planned, will include vocational, art, foreign and agricultural exhibits, and scientific food production. There will be the music, posters and pageantry of the county and millinery will be included, too.

The exposition will be, it is planned, the most comprehensive of its kind ever attempted by a North Carolina school department.

The California school departments have the credit of having characterized the exhibit.
